5. (Secret - JMM) Bill Woodruff, Counsel, Senate Appropriations Committee, called to say Senator Ellender would like a roundup briefing by the Director, probably on Monday, 14 February. Woodruff said it probably would not run over two or three hours. I later called Woodruff back to confirm the Director's availability.

6. (Secret - JMM) Dorothy Fosdick, Staff Director, Senate Subcommittee on National Security and International Operations, called to say that Senator Jackson had asked that she and Richard Perle, of the Subcommittee staff, get a roundup briefing, particularly on major strategic developments, before the end of the week so they can bring the Senator up-to-date when he comes to town for the weekend. After talking with Jim Woolsey, General Counsel, Senate Armed Services Committee, we arranged that Carl Duckett and I would meet with her and members of the Armed Services Committee staff who also wanted to attend, at 10:30 on Friday, 4 February.
